

Do you or someone you know still need help to recover from Hurricane Ike?

- Do you still need to make roof repairs or have major damage to your home that was caused by Hurricane Ike?
- Do you still need to replace appliances or personal property in order to complete your recovery?
- Do you need advice to find and qualify for the assistance that will help you recover?

Help is still available through Galveston County, the City of Galveston and several faith-based organizations which are working to assist our families in recovery, but you must ask for help now, before assistance programs end. You can find out how to get the help you need by calling the following phone numbers:

To learn about all the kinds of assistance that you could receive to recover from Hurricane Ike, call the Mainland Children's Partnership at 409-643-8260 or at 281-578-8594

For help repairing your home in Galveston County, call 877-221-8215.

For help repairing your home in the City of Galveston, call 409-797-3773.

If you want to help people in your congregation or community learn more about how to finish their recovery from Ike, go to gulfcoastinterfaith.org or send an email to gcinterfaithmail@aol.com.